

The predictions given to Aynne by THEY were given during the weekly transmissions following our ACIM class. As time went on we became more observant of 'hits' and making note of them. While we realize we may have lost quite a bit by not following through or keeping records of these as precisely as we perhaps should have in the beginning, an effort is being made now to do so. These predictions are being tape recorded as they are given, in the presence of witnesses, and later transcribed into Text. **

- (These transmissions can be read in full at <http://www.adragonstale.goldentrines.com>. The following predictions are condensed from those transmissions, and have the (N.) news broadcasts confirming these predictions included in this section as they happened.) I hope to be constantly updating this section as more predictions are confirmed.

On May 13, 2010 THEY stated that while giving her healing treatment to Aynne, Celine was helping to download a newer 'broadband' of energy into Aynne. As the weeks went by, this became noticeable. The transmissions became more focused, as well as more predictions began to come forth.

From henceforth, T. indicates the message from THEY. N. indicates confirmations from the national news.

She tells us now that she sees a fountain, it is spouting and it is not a pretty fountain. "It is not pretty!" (Doris and I hold our breath but there is no more on this part.) However, she then announces that she sees birds dropping out of the sky.

We wait. "I see an arrow pointing toward Texas and pointing toward Louisiana. Then the word, EVENT."

T. Sees vision of scientists working on a problem on a blackboard. Sees numbers and symbols being written. Aynne was told several times in this session that this would be very important. Also now sees the oil leak moving like a finger towards Texas and Mexico.

N. July 12, 2010 A new containment cap is lowered onto the spill. The product comes from a source totally unrelated to the spill, but engineers and scientists had produced this device to help the crisis. It works!

TROPICAL DEPRESSION HERMINE

As of 10 am CDT Wednesday Tropical Depression Hermine was located about 120 miles to the west of Dallas with top sustained winds of 25 mph. It is moving to the north-northeast at 10 mph. That motion and speed should continue taking the depression into southern Oklahoma (cont)

T. Shows ship rocking and rolling in the ocean, the passengers terrified.
N. While Aynne felt this was more symbolic than an actual event....she was actually on a large cruise ship right in the middle of tropical storm Nicole that sailed in the Bahamas in late Sept 2010. Then, on Nov 11, 2010, a Carnival Cruise ship became crippled in the water for days after a fire in the engine room.

Crippled Carnival Cruise Splendor Makes Landfall in San Diego - ABC News

- Aynne still feels that this warning from THEY however, implies another event all together, and the usage of the ship and terrified passengers was symbolic of this upcoming event. There are those who feel this is symbolic of the election results in November, when so many Republicans returned to power in Washington, and the resulting fearful emotions of about half the country because of that.

T. Discusses in some detail a train incident that involves both an Amtrak train and a Metro Train from DC. THEY were specific that both trains were above ground, and not underground. THEY also made it clear that there was a person of importance on one of those trains. THEY speak of depression and unhappiness following the incident, showing itself in Washington...and around the country. Aynne asks when this incident will most likely occur, and THEY show her the calendar flipping to what she feels is January of 2011. She asks who can she tell this to? Who can she warn? The response is nil. We wait to see what transpires.
