

What's in the Stars? January 2017 by Psychic Astrologer Aynne McAvoy

Happy New Year everyone! I hope it is filled with lots of joy and fulfillment of dreams for each and every one of you.

First and foremost, we are looking at an Universal ONE year! Numerology wise, we take the world year of 2017 and add it up. $2+0+1+7 = 10 =$ equals one.

A universal One year is all about new beginnings, for everyone. While each of us has a personal year, that is added a bit differently, all of us universally share in this One year, of fresh starts. We look to the One year to be a series of positive opportunities for the next twelve months, with chances to be the very best that you can be. Remember I am saying opportunities....that means you have to step up and grab them when they appear. They won't automatically attach themselves to you.

We start the year with Mercury in retrograde; but that isn't necessarily a bad thing. It's actually good at the end of an old year and beginning of a new year to look back and see how you can do things better next time. Without the benefit of prior experience, we have no comparisons. So take advantage of this retrograde time to renew, refresh, review and reassess where you want to go from here on out. Do you want a new job? A new home? A new relationship? Regroup and rethink the plan. There is no better time to do that! Millions of us will be making some pretty big changes this year.

However I remind you with a word of caution to double check all New Year's Eve plans (including travel) to make sure everyone is on the same page. Remember that Mercury Retrograde is classic for things going awry.

Mercury goes direct on January 8, 2017; so it is best to leave all important decisions, conversations or paperwork until later in the month.

Venus, the planet of love and harmony, enters compassionate Pisces on the 3rd of January. If you and your sweetie got a rocky start on New Years this would be the time to kiss and make up.

Jupiter, the big happy to lucky planet in the gentle sign of Libra will be in opposition Saturn (strict disciplinarian) in Aries all month. This aspect is like a major contest going on, with no one giving an inch. The only way to resolve this (and the bigger issues in your life) is to somehow find compromise.

Also Jupiter in Libra continues to square Pluto in Capricorn. To remind you what I've said last month on this one, we will have major disagreements on viewpoints, and this is best considered when planning holiday dinners and gatherings. You may want to make it a rule for the day to ban certain discussions that you know in advance are going to cause no one to change their opinion but may cause long lasting damage as they may spiral out of control.

And yes, Saturn in Sagittarius will continue to trine Uranus in Aries. As you may have gathered, these aspects are powerful and have been going on awhile now. Think of Saturn in Sagittarius as a serious and learned professor working in harmony on a project with another professor who is over the top buggy crazy on steroids. These two can actually work together during this trine to create something new and better and possibly never before thought of. We have to be willing to work together to make this happen.

January 19 will bring a serious square (challenge) with Mars (planet of war) in Pisces and Saturn (stern disciplinarian) in Sagittarius. To start with, neither of these planets are in a placement of comfort and good will in their current signs. Then we add the square to this (picture a square boxing ring) with Mars and Saturn slugging it out. Seriously, this aspect is in effect for a few days either way, and give some deep thought to where you are and what you are doing and saying during that time period. It would be wise to attempt to stay in the background and away from the conflict.
